The Regional Watch Center is monitoring impacts of an Avian Influenza outbreak in the state of Nebraska.

The United States Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) has confirmed the presence of highly pathogenic H5N2 avian influenza (HPAI) in a flock of 1.7 million birds at a single facility near Wakefield, NE in Dixon County. All birds will be euthanized and buried on site. The facility is currently being quarantined by local law enforcement to include controlled access with traffic control points. It is expected that the Governor of Nebraska will issue an Emergency Declaration.

CDC considers the risk to people from these HPAI H5 infections in wild birds, backyard flocks and commercial poultry, to be low. No human infections with the virus have been detected at this time.

As a general precaution, people should avoid wild birds and observe them only from a distance; avoid contact with domestic birds (poultry) that appear ill or have died; and avoid contact with surfaces that appear to be contaminated with feces from wild or domestic birds.

Please see the following link for more information from the USDA regarding the H5N2 presence in Nebraska.
